Advanced Metering & Load Management 2006 Conference

This conference will consider the progress with removal of barriers and the introduction of enablers necessary to improve load management in New Zealand's electricity market. Since new technology is inevitable to achieve improved load management capabilities then it is proper for the conference to also consider the status of advanced metering technologies, communications systems, remote functionality and customer interfaces/services.

The program will comprise a series of presentations and an interactive panel session. Presenters and panel members are utility employees, technologists and company representatives interested in furthering advanced metering and improved load management.

A technology exhibition will accompany the conference showcasing the latest and greatest metering and load management technologies. Widen your network of contacts and share solutions.
